Out of the bosom of the air,
Out of the cloud-folds of her garments shaken,
Over the woodlands brown and bare,
Over the harvest-fields forsaken,
Silent, and soft, and slow
Descends the snow.

From the Editor:

The publication dates of Manorama have been changed to February and July of each fiscal year beginning with this issue. The Annual Report information will be part of the February issue beginning in calendar year 1987. This change of publication date has been done to coordinate activities and events with the Development office, the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center, and the other departments of Manor Junior College. It has also been done to give Manorama readers better news coverage.

The publication of Manorama will be increased to four times a year, when the budget permits this expenditure to meet the goal of publishing quarterly. I hope you enjoy the news of Manor Junior College and invite you to take part in the many activities and events that are open to the public throughout the year.

Basileiad Library: Beautiful Learning Resource

by Mary Anne Whitehead

The Basileiad Library of Manor Junior College, formerly called the Thomas More Library, dominates the College's suburban Jenkintown campus by its striking contemporary, yet traditional stately stone appearance. This beautiful library with its floor-to-ceiling windows serves as the resource for the intellectual, academic and educational needs of the 500 full and part-time students and the MJC community.

The library came into being in 1948, one year after the founding of MJC when Mother M. Josaphat, OSBM, foundress, signed the contract which transferred the holdings of the Thomas More Foundation, a Catholic lending library in Philadelphia to MJC.

From its founding in 1947, Manor continued to grow and progress from its affiliation with Catholic University of America, to its final Approval of the State Council of Education in 1964 and finally to its accreditation by the Middle States in 1967. With a steady increase in enrollment, facilities were expanded over the years to include a new academic building, Mother of Perpetual Help Hall, built in 1961. This Academic building includes classrooms, lecture halls, laboratories, an auditorium-gymnasium, student lounge, chapel and offices. A residence hall, Josaphat Hall, was erected in 1964 and provides dormitory facilities for 90 students as well as space for the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center (founded May 1977) and an on-campus Dental Center established in 1978.

IN 1964, the Middle States Association advised the Manor Junior College administration to erect separate library facilities and administration offices and to revise its Board of Trustees to include lay persons. Following this advice, Manor made plans to construct the present library building.

In June 1966, Manor Junior College was awarded a Federal Contribution Grant under Title I of the Higher Education Act for the sum of $256,170 for a library-classroom-administration building which covered approximately one-third of the total cost of $768,511 for this building.

United States Senator Joseph S. Clark announced the awarding of the grants by the U.S. Office of Education and noted that Manor was one of nine Pennsylvania colleges receiving financial grants for building purposes.

On April 3, 1967, Sister Jerome, OSBM, president of Manor, and Dr. and Mrs. Emil Harasym representing the Advisory Board of the College, met with Senators Hugh Scott and Joseph S. Clark to personally express their gratitude for support of the Federal Aid Grants.

Ground breaking for the new library building took place on Mother's Day, May 14, 1967 with Rev. Joseph Kobra, chaplain, and Rev. Julian Katry, OSBM, consecrating the ground. The new library/administration building was completed in 1969 with dedication and cornerstone laying taking place on March 23, 1969. The two and one-half

"Symbols of Rebirth" Featured Exhibit at UHSC

"Ancient Symbols of Rebirth will be the featured exhibit at the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center (UHSC) of Manor Junior College, Fox Chase Road and Forrest Avenue, in Jenkintown, PA this Spring.

Butterflies and Pysanky (Ukrainian Easter eggs) from the collection of UHSC master craftsman Valerie M. Imler of New Hope, PA will be on display with a special Palm Sunday, March 23, opening slated from noon to 6 p.m. The award winning film "Pysanky the Ukrainian Easter Egg" by Slavko Nowytski will be shown, and Mrs. Imler and additional Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center master craftsmen will demonstrate the art of making Pysanky. The UHSC gift shop will also be open and pysanky decorating supplies will be available for sale.

Mrs. Imler has been associated with the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center at MJC since 1982. Her interest in Lepidoptera (butterflies) began as a hobby approximately 20 years ago and developed into a life-long study. She received her B.A. in biology from Catawba College, N.C., and has toured Europe and the S.W. United States in pursuing her interest. Her collection of butterflies numbers in the thousands and many of the specimens in her collection are not native to the United States.

HER INTEREST in Pysanky (Ukrainian Easter egg decorating) began in 1979. She has exhibited her pysanky with the New Hope Art League and has also exhibited at the Pennwood Free Library, Langhorne; Continental Bank, New Hope and has participated in the Annual Ukrainian Festival at Manor Junior College. She has also displayed her work at the St. Ann's Ukrainian Festival, Warrington, PA and at the Pearl S. Buck International Country Fair.

Her Pysanky from the Sokal region, Ukraine are also featured on the official 1986 Manor Junior College Easter Card. Research for the card was done by Christine Chomyn Izak, UHSC curator.

The UHSC is open daily from 9 to 3 p.m. To arrange for group tours, please call the UHSC at (215) 885-2360, ext. 64 or 66.

The UHSC of MJC is dedicated to the preservation and promotion of Ukrainian folk art, heritage and culture.

UHSC Craftsmen Participate In State Exhibit

Manor Junior College's Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center (UHSC) and master craftsmen Anna Halamay, Mykola Pawliuk, Stefania Shumsky-Meyer and Myrna Golay participated in the Dec. 22 Folklife Program for the 1985 "Christmas: An Ethnic Experience" exhibition at the State Museum of Pennsylvania in Harrisburg.

By special invitation of Shalom Staub, director of the State Folklife Programs, the UHSC and master craftsmen exhibited the UHSC traveling display and informally demonstrated their crafts. Mrs. Halamay of Philadelphia demonstrated Ukrainian beadwork; Mykola Pawliuk of Philadelphia, leather craft and played his flute; Stefania Shumsky-Meyer of Pittstown, NJ, Ukrainian embroidery and Myrna Golay of Annadale, NJ demonstrated weaving. The UHSC and master craftsmen were the only Ukrainian ethnic group invited to demonstrate and exhibit crafts at this special State ceremony. Mrs. Christine Chomyn Izak, of Warminster, curator of the UHSC museum collection, was the project coordinator. Dr. Ihor Mirchuk of Philadelphia is the director of the UHSC.

THE UHSC master craftsmen were featured at past Annual Ukrainian Festivals held at Manor Junior College in Jenkintown, PA each fall. Mrs. Halamay was featured in 1983, Mrs. Golay in 1984 and Mrs. Meyer in 1985. Pawliuk is slated to be the featured master craftsman for the 1986 Ukrainian Festival to be held Sunday, October 5 beginning at 12 noon.

The 1985 "Christmas: An Ethnic Experience," sponsored by the Governor's Heritage Affairs Commission, The State Museum of PA, also included musical presentations by St. Matthew's Slovak Church Choir of Pittsburgh; the Folklore Boricua Dance Company of Philadelphia, a Polish Dance Ensemble; and the Hershey Button Box Band, a Slovenian group from Hershey, PA. A Christmas tree exhibit of 26 ethnic groups also was part of the Christmas Experience. The Ukrainian Education and Culture Center of Philadelphia exhibited a tree.

Church History Course Offered at MJC

A series of classes on Ukrainian Church history is being held at Manor Junior College on Monday evenings until April 21.

Classes meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Seminar room of the Basileiad Library. Fee for each session is $3. Dr. Ihor Mirchuk, director of the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center (UHSC) at Manor Junior College, is the instructor for the course. For additional information, call the UHSC at Manor (215) 885-2360, ext. 66 or the Continuing Education division of Manor at 884-2218.

The seminar focuses on building an understanding of the development of church life in Ukraine and the position of the Ukrainian church within the framework of the Universal Church and fostering an awareness of the religious heritage of Ukraine.

UHSC Exhibits At Longwood Gardens

Anna Halamay of Langdon St., Philadelphia, master craftsman for the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center (UHSC) of Manor Junior College, Jenkintown, PA, represented the UHSC and demonstrated Ukrainian beadwork at Longwood Gardens' Fifth Annual Chrysanthemum Festival held in November.

The Chrysanthemum Festival theme for this year's exhibit was "The World Around" and 24 artisans-at-work demonstrated crafts from 10 countries. Christine Chomyn Izak of Warminster, UHSC museum collection curator, was the exhibit coordinator.

Other Ukrainians who demonstrated their crafts at this Festival were: Dmytro and Eudokia Sorochaniuk of Pennsauken, NJ, weaving; Michael Luciw, Melrose Park, PA, wood carving; and Helen Badulak of Quakertown, PA, Pysanky.

The UHSC is dedicated to the preservation and promotion of Ukrainian folk art, heritage and culture and includes the museum collection, an archives division, a library and an academic studies division. Dr. Ihor Mirchuk of Philadelphia is the director of the UHSC.

Embroidery, Pysanky, Beadwork, Breadmaking Workshops Slated

Manor Junior College's Continuing Education Division and the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center of Manor, is offering a series of spring workshops open to the public.

UKRAINIAN EMBROIDERY

Ukrainian Embroidery (drawn threadwork technique) will be offered in the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center at manor in 2-two session embroidery workshops for beginners in the art of embroidery from the Poltava region of Eastern Ukrainian on Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m. Session I will be held February 22 and March 1. Session II will be held April 19 and April 26. Fee is $35 including all materials, supplies and instructions for each session.

Participants will learn the techniques used in the embroidery stitches of the Poltava region, especially techniques used in the "Nastyluvannia" (flat stitch), "Hlad" (satin stitch), and "Merezhky" (drawn thread work insertions). The workshop is conducted by master craftsman Stefania Shumska Meyer of Pittstown, NJ. Class size is limited to 12 people.

UKRAINIAN PYSANKY WORKSHOPS

Ukrainian Easter egg decorating workshops will also be held. A beginner's workshop will be held Saturday, March 8 from 1 to 4 p.m. Fee is $15 with all supplies included. The advanced workshop will be held Saturday, March 15 from 1 to 4 p.m. Fee is $7 with eggs and instruction material included.

Participants will learn to make Pysanky, the beautiful Ukrainian Easter eggs, using the ancient batik technique. Children with a serious interest in folk art are welcomed. This workshop will be conducted by master craftsman Helen Kuc of Philadelphia. Class size is limited to 12.

UKRAINIAN RITUAL BREAD DECORATING

Ukrainian ritual bread decorating (forming ornate dough designs on breads) will also be offered at the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center at Manor Junior College. A beginner's workshop will be held Saturday, March 22 from 1 to 4 p.m. Fee is $15 which includes all supplies and instructions.

Participants will learn to form and arrange the intricate bread dough designs used to adorn ritual breads, especially those breads associated with Easter, Christmas, and wedding celebrations. The workshop is conducted by master craftsman Vasyl Jula of Carnegie, PA. Class size is limited to 12.

UKRAINIAN BEADWORK

Ukrainian beadwork, the art of making gerdany, will be offered for beginners on Saturday April 5 and April 12 from 1 to 4 p.m. Fee is $35 including all materials.

Participants will learn to make a sample of a gerdan, the beautiful beaded necklaces. This waning ethnic art form was highly developed and admired in Ukraine and was brought to Pennsylvania by Ukrainian immigrants over 100 years ago. Through these workshops the Ukrainian Heritage Studies Center at Manor seeks to bring an understanding and appreciation of a unique art form which is part of the rich ethnic heritage of Pennsylvania.

This workshop will be conducted by master craftsman, Anna Halamay of Philadelphia. Class size is limited to 12. Early enrollment is advised.

For registration or additional information on all workshops, contact the Office of Continuing Education at (215) 885-2218, Manor Junior College, Fox Chase Road and Forrest Avenue, Jenkintown, PA 19046.

DHC Participating In I.D. Dot Program

The Manor Junior College Dental Health Center located on the College campus is participating in the I.D. DOT, personal identification program announced Jean Drach, business manager for the DHC.

The I.D. DOT is a new concept in personal identification that consists of a small ⅛ inch diameter clear disc bearing a social security number. The dot is bonded to the outside of a rear tooth and when identification is needed, police, hospitals or other agencies can read the number and phone the 24-hour 800 hot line number to receive immediate identification. The system, is completely voluntary, fast and hidden from view and economical.

The means of identification is especially useful in cases of identifying accident victims or lost children.

Manor Junior College Dental Health Center serves as an adjunct to the Expanded Functions Dental Assisting Program at MJC. The DHC also provides dental services to the public at reduced fees. To obtain additional information contact the DHC at (215) 887-7617.
